

A bit of feedback

Before the close of each convening, we dedicate 15 minutes to gathering feedback from attendees using some version of these open-ended questions. This survey is different from the more formal post-experience data we collect. Instead, this gives us access to the immediacy of people's experience. Often this feedback leads us to either course-correct or supplement areas of our work with a group.

If you would, please take 15 minutes for this survey. This is our attempt to collect a bit of feedback for future convenings. You do not need to include your name (and we could not do handwriting analysis if we tried!) so please don't hold back.
